SUMMARY

This bill would:

- make permanent the law that allows state bodies to hold closed session meetings to discuss matters posing threats or potential threats of criminal or terrorist activity; and
- preclude public disclosure of public agency security information relating to terrorist or other criminal acts.

SUMMARY OF AMENDMENTS

These April 21, 2003, amendments add criminal acts to the matters that would be exempt from public disclosure of public agency security information. These amendments would not significantly affect FTB's programs or operations. With these amendments, this bill would still not impact the department's costs or the state's income tax revenue, as indicated in FTB's previous analysis.

POSITION

Pending.
